Deputy County Clerk. In the late Dem ocratic primary election a son of the for-mer and the latter were candidates for the nomination for the office of County Clerk, and the County Executive Com-mittee decided by a vote of 7 to 6 that charged that he had been cheated; that ballot boxes had been stuffed, tickets scratched, etc., sufficiently to change the result, and he procurred a large num-ber of affidayits which seemed to prove his cherges, and claiming to be the reg-ular nominee, is making a vigorous can-vass. Earnshaw has also furnished a lot of counter affidavits and the fight be-tween them is "to the finish." Assoon tween them is "to the finish." Assoon as the developments began to be made in regard to the alleged primary elec-tion frauds, the similarity between them and the frauds of 1888 became an object

it can be produced.

Another corroborative circumstance has been the Irequent visits of Mr. Ben Earnshaw to the benediciary of the crime and the demand that John O. Pendleton should come to Wetzel and make a ion should come to Wetzel and make a vigorous canvass for the purpose of rallying the Democracy to the "regular" nomince. "YOUNG MR. PENDLETON."

Him Up while He was in Congress.

The Atlanta Constitution is the leading Democratic paper of the South. There is no discount on its Democracy. On the 15th of last February it published the following from its Washington corrospondent concerning John O. Pendleton, who was then occupying Mr. Atchingon's seat in Congress:

"Young Mr. Pendleton, of West Virginia, succeeded in absolutely killing himself in the rouse today." Ill be turned out in a few days. He lines, with the the Resublishers in the lines of the county who has been heard to deny that the crime was committed, or to attempt to palliate its heinousness. This was largely the reason why there was such bitter opposition to the renomination of Pendleton. The Democracy of Wetzel didn't want to endorse John O. Pendleton, and the election returns will demonstrate the fact that many of them will not do so.

There are some things involved in this campaign, as well as the tariff, which the people of the district will consider. One of these questions is whether the voters desire to be represented by a man of dignity and ability, who will command the respect of his colleagues and reflect credit on his constituents, or a man who answers the description given above by one of the leading Democratic papers in the United States.

ty now supports is one which it would have repudiated ten years ago, and which some of its great men, like Blaine, are evidently trying to repudiate now. Protection of the McKinley sort is of that kind which dwarfs our industrial that kind which dwarfs our industrial prosperity and taxes the great body of our people, so that a few individuals may make larger profit. I am an American proud of my country's marvelous growth and wonderful possibilities. I feel mortified at such a humiliating confession as the McKinley act imposes, and at such a narrow policy as that to which we have been committed by its enactment. At the time when our industries are languishing from over.

GLADSTONE'S TOUR. le Addresses a Great Crowd in Edinburg.

London, Oct. 21,-Mr. Gladstone addressed an audience of 5,000 persons in the Corn Exchange at Edinburg this evening. Ireland, he said, continued to eclipse all other subjects. The country now fully recognized that the Iriel now fally recognized that the Irish questions must be settled before others. Local government was vanishing in thin air, and there was a proposal before Parliament granting 10,000,000 pounds to buy out the landlords. The state of things was such that the Irish ought to hale the law though he would not say they such that the Irish ought to hale the law though he would not say they ought to break it. The government itself was a perfect pattern of illegality. Its methods tended to provoke the people. Mr. Gladstone then referred to the Tipperary affair. It was grossly illegal. If such tricks were played in England by wantonness of power a very short way would be found to remedy such an abuse.
